However, indicates the belief that Germany must sooner or later accept victory on any terms the Allies impose.

Victory Loan Funds Help

Canadian Live Stock

LOAN PROVIDES FUNDS TO FINANCE HUGE PRODUCE EXPORT TRADE WITH BRITISH ISLES

From the viewpoint of the farmer and live stock dealer the 1918 Victory Loan is a most attractive proposition. It affords a non-taxable loan at a rate of 4 1/2 per cent. interest, should be sufficient inducement to the shrewd investor. But there is also added feature that the investment is helping the country's live stock market and of their surplus products at top prices.

"Live Victory Loan Helps."
But what has the Victory Loan got to do with the live stock business? The answer is a long and interesting one. In the first place Canada is our best market. But not all the food products we export, especially beans, clover, wheat, and corn, find their way to the United States. Many of our products find their way to the United Kingdom. But owing to the great shortage of war expenditures since the present time is not in a position to pay cash for what she buys. Our Government is prepared to advance the necessary credit, as the Department of Agriculture, which is doing the buying, has no cash on hand. The Government is therefore in a position to advance the necessary credit for the sale of the live stock surplus of beef and mutton and other products, and other products, to the United Kingdom. The Finance Minister makes the payments to the United Kingdom on account of the live stock surplus of beef and mutton and other products, to the United Kingdom.

Live year in the animal products
Last year in the animal products we have an average of $100,000,000 worth of $100,000,000. Since the war began we have advanced no less than $100,000,000, enabling the Dominion to subscribe when the live stock surplus

Calls For Help

Point Winnetuk Picked Up From Canadian Government Ship Galleon

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 31.—(Herald) of water and help.

This was the fatal wreck yesterday picked up at three o'clock yesterday morning from the Canadian steamer Galleon by the patrol steamer Galleon. Although the wreck is found in view of the fact that no further response has been picked up in answer to the calls floated since the first one was received from the foundering steamer, it is considered possible that the vital stricken vessel is still afloat paranoid was carried away during the high gale blowing off Triangle Island during the night. Furthermore it is realized that the emergency dynamite may have been put out of commission by the heavy sea which, according to the first message sent out, must have flooded the vessel as she was battling against the storm.

The vessel left Triangle Island at five o'clock the previous night from Hudon and it is expected that disaster overtook the vessel of Cape St.
James, a rocky point at the southern end of the Queen Charlotte group.

Several vessels have been rescued off the coast and are now under way.
The weather reports indicate that heavy rain-storms are now raging off the north end of Vancouver Island during the night. The window message sent out by the Galleon was so faint that it was concluded that the engine were out of commission.

The only theory that can be advanced is that the Galleon was disabled by the heavy sea, through breakdown into the wind and driven by heavy seas.

To Relieve Catarrh,
Catarrhal Deafness
And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing deaf and hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affection can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effects completely relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the link of a watch was plainly audible even or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Patient (Doubtless Trueman). Take this same and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoon four times a day.

Particulars in this way not only reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tubes, and thus to equilibrate the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the result is given as nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, noise in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

ASK FOR COMMISSION

TORONTO, Ont. 31.—At a meeting of the United Farmers' Committee, a resolution was passed urging that the citizens of Canada give proof of their appreciation of returned soldiers by helping them to secure employment.

It was recommended that those soldiers who have had an adequate training in agriculture and who desire to be settled in the settled portions of Ontario be that the Dominion be requested to follow the example of the British Parliament by appointing a standing committee composed of representatives of the Government, manufacturers, labor men and agricultural industries, together with the G. W. V. A.

in a way to deal with labor conflicts after the conclusion of peace.
By seeking openings for the employment of labor and the direction of the available labor supply of the country.

They also favored the policy of the owners and shareholders of all lucrative elevated in Canada.

After Effects Of Dreaded La Grippe

Where There's A Disease There's A Cure

La Grippe, or Spanish Influenza as the epidemic now sweeping over all America is called, is one of the most dangerous diseases known to man. And anyone who has felt its pains will be glad to forget the trouble.

La Grippe, or influenza, starts with a slight cold and ends with a complete state of collapse. It has the reaction in its back, it tortures him with fever and chills, headache and backache. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly diseases. Its after effects are often more serious than the disease itself. It is quite possible to avoid in grippe by buying the blood tonic and red for the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—a blood medicine which cures the blood and strengthens the system. If, however, the disease attacks you, the patient should at once resort to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Maintaining Beef Cattle a Public Service

FARMERS who developed their cattle business yesterday are realizing today that the idea of what is going on throughout the cattle industry in Canada, in 1918, is not a mere matter of business, but a matter of public service. The cattle industry in Canada, in 1918, is not a mere matter of business, but a matter of public service. The cattle industry in Canada, in 1918, is not a mere matter of business, but a matter of public service.

Two years ago, when the cattle industry in Canada was at its peak, the number of cattle was estimated at 1,000,000. Today, the number of cattle is estimated at 1,000,000. The cattle industry in Canada, in 1918, is not a mere matter of business, but a matter of public service.

Only A Flood of Dollars Will Put Out the Fire in Europe

WHEN the Kaiser started the great conflagration, which threatened to engulf the world, he failed to reckon with Canadian prosperity.

Here in the Western Hemisphere safeguarded by the British Fleet, production has increased to such an extent that Canada is one of the richest countries in the world.

Step by step, the Allied armies have got the fire under control. Ever and anon it breaks out anew. Only one thing will put it out—Money, Money, and still more MONEY.

Money is urgently needed to keep the Canadian Troops at the front.

Money is absolutely necessary to supply the munitions of war.

Without more money we can never hope to win a lasting peace.

Where is this money coming from?

From You—and YOU—and YOU!

Get in line NOW.

BUY VICTORY BONDS

Buy till it hurts. Cut out your frivolous expenditures—those harmless luxuries you can so well do without.

Make this a real sacrifice. Don't merely use the money you can easily spare—mortgage your income for a year ahead to provide the sinews of war.

You are not asked to donate, but to lend every dollar you have, or can borrow.

You will receive good interest and your loan will be paid back to you in a few years.

From a standpoint of patriotism, your duty is clear.

THE STEEL COMPANY OF CANADA.

THE TEMPTING OF PAUL CHESTER.

BY
ALICE AND CLAUDE ASKEW.
AUTHORS OF "THE BURLINITE"

Paul felt from her neck in any words of welcome to her back. Any thought and clasp almost covered the lowest bodice, but her beautiful arms were bare of ligatures, and she played with a long sweeping ostrich-feather fan. The plumes were tilted to match her dress.

"Susan showed a little as she caught sight of her triumphant rival and it suddenly struck her how late and fragile she must look by the side of the other. She wished she had worn such a regal gown as Henrietta was wearing, and not treated to the next effort of white lace on chiffon.

"She caught sight of her reflection in the glass and thought how pale she looked, how delicate. Her cheeks didn't glow, she hadn't Henrietta's rosy, lovely admittance. She envied the Duchess her breast and bow, her amber ring, and her children's laugh.

Henrietta smiled as she passed Duchess's hand. Perhaps she felt that she ought stood in the position of the pale captive attracted to a conqueror's triumphal car, or else she was humiliated that Chester's wife was attending her reception.

For just now, just now—the world went about her and Chester—she felt the last thing she felt like to be.

She passed on after Henrietta, half-intrigued under her in her bosom, and Chester followed. In his wife's train, but his eyes had fastened themselves on Henrietta's flushed face as his hands touched, and he knew that before the evening was over she would find some opportunity to talk to him—he would only have to wait his time.

He found plenty of friends when he entered the great drawing-room, and when women hesitated almost to talk to him—half of the world's politeness.

But Susan was left somewhat in the lurch. She came and she went, but she gazed listlessly about her, admiring in a dull sort of way the beautiof cool air for a moment—to stand still and watch Susan.

"Yes," murmured Chester, "perfect."

THE BONUS OF LONDON

"Oh!" staid Susan. Her face had grown white in her gowns, and her lips quivered slightly, as she turned and looked at Rupert. "What do you think of that?" she asked in a hoarse whisper.

"The Duchess is looking over the rest of the guests in a way that she can't help but notice."

"And I have to sit here and play the part of the spectator. Mr. Temple, my position is humiliating."

"Shameless!"

"She drew a long shuddering breath and her bosom heaved passionately."

"They are such good friends, these warm political allies," replied Rupert to his smiling tones.

"I'm not sure, but I think they are."

"I think they are."

"I think they are."

"I think they are."

"I think they are."

"I think they are."

"I think they are."

It was too much. Susan pressed her hand to her beating heart, smothering down the swelling tears on her breast; then she stepped swiftly out of the doorway.

She was not troubling now as she had trembled a few seconds ago; she was filled with too furious a resentment against Henrietta to feel even now or comfort.

She swept up to the two on the balcony, brushing Rupert away, who would have stopped her, and, waiting straight up to her husband, she laid her hand on Paul's shoulder as one who had the right.

"Will you take my home, please?" she asked. "My husband is getting steadily worse."

"He's not ill," said Paul, looking at Henrietta steadily.

"The two women regarded glances, and their eyes were like sword thrusts."

"Henrietta was the first to speak."

"Have you not a husband, dear?" she observed slowly. "He's never of you to come to this hall."

"The night air would blow in through the carriage windows, and he would be so cold."

"He's not ill," said Paul, looking at Henrietta steadily.

WHEAT FIELD DRAINAGE

Surface Drainage of Value in Growing Winter Wheat.

Black Rock Responsible for Great Losses Among Farmers and Cherry Growers—How It Can be Controlled With Least Expense.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto)

SURFACE drains are used to remove excess water of soils free in violent showers or the rapid melting of snow and are consequently often almost as important as the drainage of land on which has no artificial drainage. These drains often prevent the gelling out of the washing away of soil and fertility.

Good surface drains will lessen considerably the amount of winter wheat "drowned out" or "water killed." These injurious effects are largely caused through water being spring. Where this water returned by surface drains, the reason for being so often seen in wheat fields in the early spring would be largely removed. These drains are a benefit, too, in that the removal of surface water enables the land to warm more quickly, and the plants to start growth earlier in the spring.

Surface drains should follow the natural low levels in the wheat field and be made before the snow comes with the ordinary flow of the water and not after the snow has melted. It is more than on farrow wide and not farrow deep. It is a considerable slope in the field and consequently greater danger of being gelled out, care should be taken that drains are not made on the wrong side of the ridge. The contour of the slope at the top and of the bottom of the drain will facilitate the flow of water. The drainage of the field should be made to avoid steep slopes. The drainage of the field should be made to avoid steep slopes. The drainage of the field should be made to avoid steep slopes.

To Cure Black Rock Illness.

No other case, not even wheat blight, has destroyed and is destroying so many cherry and plum trees in this province as the black rock disease. This statement, while true of the province as a whole, is not true of the Niagara District and of any other district where plum and cherry trees are carefully pruned and sprayed each year.

The disease is not caused by grub, although they are often found in gum which attacks the branches and in the trunks of the trees. It is caused by black, knotty lesions, usually about three inches long and about half an inch in thickness. Through these swellings are much shorter and often again just beneath the surface. These lesions are usually found on the larger branches. New knots at first are brownish in color, but later become black. The lesions are usually found on the larger branches. Control Measures.—In order to control black rock thoroughly it is helpful to know that it is not a disease of any species which act as seeds, and are shown by the wood.

Russia's Collapse Germany's Chance

LONDON, Nov. 7.—So far as it is possible to estimate public utterances there can be little doubt that the Times has, during the past month, been right in its opinion that Germany's only hope of escape from the acceptance of a defeat rests on the collapse of Russia.

But the great mass of writers on Russian affairs look for the collapse of Russia to be a long and painful process, and they hope the hope of continued diplomatic intrigue to split the world after the war in the interests of German policy.

It is particularly interesting to observe writers like Paul Rohrbach the great anti-Russian authority. Their view is, now that the German Empire has been reduced to Germany's real while on the other hand Russia has lost her position that America and the future will inevitably rise against any her diplomatic opportunity at the expense of England.

In the Deutsche Politik, Oct. 25, Rohrbach characterizes this argument in terms which throw clearly, the abiding character of German intrigues. Rohrbach says the collapse of Russia and the weakening of Germany will all dominating result of world war.

Letters From Overseas

FROM LESLIE VEREX, 2nd Battery,

Somewhere in France.
Dear Mother—I don't know if I can think of very much to write about, but I have a chair to sit on and a table to write on. I thought I would try. I'll tell you about the place I am living in now. We lived in a village evacuated by the Hunns just recently and there had also been some civilians there too, but they were gone and had left all kinds of stuff behind. The town was not damaged to any extent when we moved in. The houses were full of everything, just as if the people had stepped out for a few minutes—tables, chairs, sewing machines, dishes, pictures hanging on the walls—everything natural. We made several excavations and as a result we have chairs, tables, chairs, dishes, etc., to say nothing of clothes. I have on a pair of wool yarn blue trousers, and they are a great comfort after wearing light riding breeches for three years. I also have on a new pair of carpet slippers. It's fun to see the fellows putting on civilian clothes but to me what they feel like. One fellow has on light chicken-bone trousers and a white shirt with stiff front and cuffs and wearing a straw hat. The best of all, we are sleeping (before we do sleep) between white linen sheets which we found in one of the houses. I'll now tell you what we had for dinner today after a search in the garden. Fried meat (dried unknown), boiled sausage, string bean, new carrots and potatoes. Well, I don't know if I like that? If we could live like this all the time it would not be too bad. But we are lucky to have this. We are in an old barn, which will keep out the water if nothing else. We can stand upright in it and that is quite a change from a hole in the ground which you have to crawl on your hands and knees and back out again. So you can see that we are making the most of it. I received two letters and magazines a few days ago, but not the one that I can see any day. I was pretty sick for a couple of days but I was not at the hospital, but I stuck it out and came out O.K. I don't like the idea of not doing so, but I don't like to absolutely refuse. Leave it in my hands and I may get mine before Christmas.

Oct. 2nd.
Well, I've been so busy that I feel I can't put any more in my letter. We are right in it again, as you have likely seen in the papers. I have received two more letters and the little boy is no longer in the hospital, but I stuck it out and came out O.K. I don't like the idea of not doing so, but I don't like to absolutely refuse. Leave it in my hands and I may get mine before Christmas. I'm moving so slow. I have not been well lately, but manage to keep going. I guess the country is getting on. A couple of weeks in England would likely be no use. I had a letter from Bob Brown. He wants to get leave the same time as I do so we can be together. We are kept mighty busy these days and Fritz take a lot of beating so I must stop off for this time.

GREAT INCREASE IN RESIDENTIAL AREA OF MONTREAL

A great increase has been made in the residential value of Montreal by the opening of Mount Royal Tunnel (Canadian Northern Railway) through the city and the extension of the Montreal and North Shore Railway and the Montreal and North Shore Railway.

THOMAS CHAMBERS, owner of this gramophone, playing some of the latest records from the New Edison "The National Smoke" brand.

We wanted Music in our home, so we got a New Edison.

Somehow we had a deep-seated notion that Music that is merely a resemblance, that is only an imitation, is simply not Music at all. To have contented ourselves with anything but the actual voice or playing of the living artist would be enduring something that is not Music.

Talking machines imitate Music. Only the New Edison "Re-Creates" Music, and so truthfully that, as we listen to it, it is difficult to believe the living artist is not actually present.

Wouldn't you like to hear this really marvellous invention of the world's greatest inventor? With the New Edison there are no needless changes. Can play all makes of records. Easy terms if you wish.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. A. H. Noddy.

THE MILITARY SIDE OF CHRISTIANITY.

"I came not to add peace but sword."—Matt. 23:17.

Our Lord, with these words, threw a note of military in the marching music of the Christian. Christianity is a warfare.

When we dedicate our children to God in baptism and read their names upon the church roll we are invited to consider the Christian's faith, we pray that he may be able to stand fast in the faith of Christ crucified, and manfully fight under his banner against the world and the devil, and against the Christian's faithful soldiers and followers.

It is not to be admitted that the Christian's faith is a passive faith, but it is a faith which is a warfare. It is a faith which is a warfare. It is a faith which is a warfare.

Paul exhorts Timothy to "endure hardship as a good soldier of Jesus Christ," and one of the things which he exhorted him when appointing his successor that he be "able to fight a good fight."

If we go back to the earlier days of scripture record of David's victory over Goliath, we shall see that the hero was victorious because he was a good soldier.

When the leader of Israel was about to take possession of the land of promise, he was to be a good soldier. He was to be a good soldier. He was to be a good soldier.

When the leader of Israel was about to take possession of the land of promise, he was to be a good soldier. He was to be a good soldier. He was to be a good soldier.

THE ADVENTURES OF THE "AVERAGE" FAMILY.

Chapter I---Saturday

NOW, what ARE we going to do to-morrow?" asked Mrs. Average, as she sat down with her knitting across the living room table from Mr. Average. "For my part I'm going to take a good long rest to-morrow morning. There's no service at the church so I might as well," answered her husband. "This business has got my goat" cut in 17-year-old Billy Average. "Here I was with the tennis racket practically rubbed, and now the playground is closed." "Oh, cheer up, Billy," said his sister Mary, "perhaps the Browns will come in the afternoon and you will sit opposite Nelly Brown in a game of Five Hundred." "No, they won't come over to-morrow," put in her father. "I met Mr. Brown today and he told me that until little Tommy's cold is better none of them will step out of the house." "Of course, YOU'RE not worrying, Sis," replied Billy. "I suppose Mr. Carter will be in as usual in the evening. Nothing can keep him away." "Billy, that will do." (To be continued.)

What Happened Sunday

Is yours an average family? Will Sunday be a long dreary day in your house or will it be a pleasant day? Don't fail to read the sequel to this story in Monday's Intelligence

VOL. 13

BELLEVILLE ONTARIO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1918.

NO. 111

THE WAR OVER GERMANY HAS SURRENDERED COMPLETE VICTORY FOR THE ALLIES ARMISTICE TERMS ACCEPTED BY GERMANY UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER THE RESULT

DEFEATED ON LAND SEA AND SKY

GERMANY BOWS TO THE INEVITABLE

SURRENDERS TO MARSHAL FOCH

GERMAN ARMISTICE DELEGATES ARE RECEIVED BY FIELD MARSHAL FOCH AND SURRENDER ACCEPTED, BRINGING FOUR YEARS WAR TO A CLOSE WITH COMPLETE DEFEAT OF CENTRAL POWERS—GERMANY DESERVED BY HER ALLIES AND RENT WITH INTERNAL DISSENSION, GLAD TO RAISE WHITE FLAG AND ACCEPT ANY TERMS SUBMITTED BY ALLIES—GERMAN KULTUR FOR EVER DISCREDITED.

Germany has surrendered! The bombastic, braggart Hun has been brought to his knees begging that hostilities cease so that the "Faterland" may not be visited with the devastation and destruction which German soldiers have carried to other countries which dared dispute the Kaiser's assumption of deity and divine right to rule the world.

Germany's surrendering saves herself much well-deserved punishment and the soldiers of the Allied armies would rather carry the war into Germany than accept the abject surrender of that outlaw nation now that her borders are mined from every side.

Germany has been defeated by her own selfishness, frightfulness, trickery, treachery, savage cruelty and complete lack of honor, as well as by the armies and navies and armies of the Allies. The blundering diplomacy of the Big Stick has stampeded nations into the conflict against Germany who might otherwise have remained neutral.

By her actions in war Germany has forfeited every chance of sympathy in defeat. With the blackest record of any nation, savage or otherwise, since time began, Germany goes down in utter and humiliating defeat after more than four years of war marked upon their part by the most savage cruelty and selfish bestiality that the most degenerate brain could conceive.

1567 Days of Horror Ends in Downfall of Berlin Butcher

Special Dispatch to The Intelligence

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Associated Press from this morning issued the following:

"After 1567 days of horror during which virtually the whole of civilization has been overthrown, brutal war in history ended this morning at five o'clock Washington time. The terms dictated by Marshal Foch, it is believed are of such a nature as to prevent the world from any resumption of the struggle by the Germans. It is feared that they call for the demolition of German's army, withdrawal of all of her fleet and the dismantling of the rest.

The announcement of the dispatch did not tell anything of the name of Marshal Foch's headquarters, at the time the armistice was signed. It is stated, however, that at five o'clock Paris time, the signatures of German's delegates were affixed to the document, which blasted forever the dream which undid the world.

Through the survivors of the war, the struggle which has cost the very lives of millions of men.

Germany has surrendered! The bombastic, braggart Hun has been brought to his knees begging that hostilities cease so that the "Fatherland" may not be visited with the devastation and destruction which German soldiers have carried to other countries which dared dispute the Kaiser's assumption of duty and divine right to rule the world.

Germany by surrendering saves herself much well-deserved punishment and the soldiers of the Allied armies would rather carry the war into Germany than accept the abject surrender of that outlaw nation now that her borders are beset by every side.

Germany has been defeated by her own selfishness, frightfulness, treachery, savage cruelty and complete lack of honor, as well as by the armies and aviators and airmen of the Allies. The blundering diplomacy of the Big Stick has stamped nations into gas confined against Germany who might otherwise have remained neutral.

A CHICKEN DISPUTE
A chicken dispute resulted in four Havers being hauled in the Police Court, Saturday on four charges of assault, compelling actual bodily harm. The case occupied the whole day and the evidence showed that one evening last September Charles Goodman and his wife called on their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Albert at their store on Front Street. Harry Goodman and his wife came in later. Some time was passed about Charles Goodman's chicken which had disappeared, cutting in the two Goodman brothers and their wives getting into an argument during Mind your eye!

A BUG darts at your eye. Your eye closes—before you think. Reflex action. Your eye telegraphs to your brain "Bug coming!" Your brain flashes back "Close up!" You aren't conscious of the exchange of messages—but your eyelids close. Force of habit protects you. Habit and reflex action save time and effort in numerous ways, and keep your brain clear for the real problem.

Habit, for example, sets the hour when the difficult operation of reading is done. The book waits patiently in a support of position to receive your eyes. The eyes deliver that habit. If they were regularly all you know is that you read well.
If they don't move regularly, you know the habit has failed.

AT THE PALACE
Very appropriate was the special program "A Daughter of France" which was shown at the Palace Theatre last night, in this picture Virginia Pate gave a very striking portrayal of what the women of France have gone through during the hard German occupation of French territory. The work is full balanced and the actors manage to represent the Germans, their work very cleverly although one would think after watching the picture that the actors must have had a devil in their hearts to kill all such virtues as invaded fiction and France the story is very cleverly depicted and holds the audience in suspense until the last act when the surprise is handed out making the very very interesting and timely. The program also had a good deal to do with the war effort. Charles Houlton, the one person who was present tonight and tomorrow night.

CHEERING NOTES IN LATE PROCKS

To keep in tune with these cheerfully optimistic days Fashion suggests vivid color touches on the Fall and Winter Frocks. Visit our Women's and Misses' sections and select from many entrancing models, each one embodying the prevailing style mode of the hour, one of our latest-like dresses. A wide range in color and style to choose from and at prices that will not conflict with a war-time income.

WOOLLENS

Yards and yards of pure wool shirtings, 45 inches wide in black and navy offer your inspection. In this showing are also 45-inch costume velvets, "Vogue" quality, in seven popular shades. The quality is the same as shown before the war, in fact these suitings cannot now be purchased in any wholesale house in Canada at any price. You will love the rich velvety nap and the appealing colorings of the costume velvets that are advantageous purchase credits to all who visit. The prinkings we are sure, are in keeping with your ideas of economy.

COATS OF DISTINCTION

Fashion has decided that coats may be grey-colored,uffed and beamed with fur, lined at waist or loose and cape-and-all-evening, whichever Mrs. Mouldy's stature best. It is in frockmaking plush with "Mossam, Mouldy or Kelenky for ay trimming.

THE ADVENTURES OF THE "AVERAGE" FAMILY.

Chapter IV---Wednesday

On Wednesday night Mr. Average usually stayed downtown and went to his lodge. But on this Wednesday night came straight home and the minute the evening meal was finished he made a lecture for the living room, saying "You youngsters monopolized everything last night--it's our turn tonight. Come, Mother, we'll have some real music." "All right, John," replied Mrs. Average, "I'll be directly." "I've asked Mrs. Goodneighbor to come over tonight, and as soon as she comes in we'll be with you." While waiting for the arrival of Mrs. Goodneighbor, Mr. Average played "Light's Out March," by Prince's band. Like all old-blooded men, Mr. Average liked good, rousing live band music, and he liked this record so much that he played it over twice. When the ladies arrived he put on "A Perfect Day," then "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and followed these with some Grand Opera. After hearing the "Greatest From Lucia," Mr. Average remarked:--"Here we are enjoying Grand Opera right at home at one-tenth of the usual cost. No more buying of Big, worn-out Operetta at one flip for me; after this we'll go to LINDSAY'S and buy the Records instead, and invest the money saved in Victory Bonds."

Mr. Average must assuredly did not regret staying away from the Lodge that Wednesday night.

There is a world of entertainment for old and young alike in a Scorecard as Grand as YOUR family could not longer be without one. Come to LINDSAY'S to-morrow and select yours. Easy terms of payment if desired.

Demobilization of Canadian Soldiers

"We were home back till it's over there." The question of how to demobilize the Canadian soldiers working on the problem of demobilization is the subject of a letter to the editor.

The system which is now in vogue in the authorities is to demobilize the soldiers in the order of their arrival in Canada. This is a very simple and direct method.

The soldiers, however, are not so simple. They are not so simple as to be demobilized in the order of their arrival in Canada. They are not so simple as to be demobilized in the order of their arrival in Canada.

Preparing For
After War Trade

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Problems of reconstruction and development and adjustment to the new conditions of industry and trade are being considered at a conference begun here today between the reconstruction and development committee of the Cabinet, headed by Hon. A. E. Macdonald, and representatives of various firms in the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Particularly those which have been engaged in munitions, and other war industries.

The main purpose of the meeting is to create a central body in Canada, representatives of which will be agricultural and labor, to set in motion the reconstruction of the country. The committee members are to be named in London.

The main purpose of the meeting is to create a central body in Canada, representatives of which will be agricultural and labor, to set in motion the reconstruction of the country. The committee members are to be named in London.

By quickly leading big volumes of business and having Canadian industry equipped to handle them, it is hoped to avoid the minimum of dislocation resulting from the reconstruction of war orders.

Though contracts for shells were placed up by the very few of those, they are all conditional upon the maintenance of hostilities, and it goes without saying that when war is about to be fired on any nation, the orders for shells must continue. An official statement on the subject, according from Sir Joseph Parvill.

The capacity of Canadian industry-making is a revelation. It is now believed that in line of after-war industry the efficiency will be demonstrated.

In a recent report, both of the reconstruction committee and of the manufacturers to develop such a business as to develop such a domestic business as will ensure, despite the cessation of war orders, the maintenance of our industry, the policy which is now adopted. There is the fullest optimism as to Canada's capacity to attain that end.

DUCHON PEOPLE DO NOT FEEL HONORED

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 13.—A great mystery still is being made of the decision in Holland to refuse to sell the soldiers, the former German Emperor, three different country seats of the British Embassy in London, as announced at his temporary abode.

The British Emperor made an important visit to Holland, according to reports from London. At 12 o'clock Sunday morning, the Emperor, dressed in civilian, driven by Prof. de Groot, arrived in London, and the officers were being escorted along high road. The last Belgian soldier, who was killed in the border line, was still asleep. The king of the monarchs brought out a crowd of curious onlookers.

The former ruler of Germany was greeted in the station of a general, with an officer's cap and carried a sword. The retinue marchal figure was hidden and beat on a walking stick, and his eyes stared straight ahead.

The Dutch frontier guards stopped the carriage. After some brief formalities, the automobiles were conducted to the railway station at Rydam, where cavalry and military officials greeted a cordial about the station.

Crowds of Belgians refused to stand around the station crying: "A las Guillaume! A las Guillaume!"

An Imperial train arrived at the station an hour later. It consisted of German cars, with the Emperor, who had walked up and down the railway platform, entered the train and changed to British about the station.

Arrangements for the reception of the Emperor were made by General von Helldorf, who was in Queen Wilhelmina, who went to German headquarters last week.

WAR COSTS CANADA OVER BILLION DOLLARS

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—The war has cost Canada well over a billion dollars, it is said. This comprises accounts have actually passed through the finance department. It does not include secret overseas expenditure for which accounts have not yet been presented.

War expenditures by the Dominion since August 1914 had been for the different fiscal years, approximately as follows: 1914-15, $60,750,000; 1915-16, $108,137,000; 1916-17, $206,200,000; 1917-18, $248,500,000. From months to October 31, 1918 $101,000,000. Total $1,025,587,000.

The expenditure for war purposes last month was $66,510,000 as compared with $41,000,000 in October, 1917. It is explained however that the figures for the last month include some overseas accounts which had been delayed in the month.

Expenditures in consolidated fund amounts were: 1st October, 1918: $13,683,457; in October, 1917, $15,458,000. The total debt of the Dominion, exclusive of the Dominion War Bonds, on October 31 last was $1,387,000,000, and on the month of 1918: $1,377,000,000.

TO CHADWILL WHO UP MUNITION WORK

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—The Imperial Munitions Board desires it to be known that it is in communication with the British Ministry of Munitions with regard to the orders to be placed, including munition production in Canada. The method now being placed in Canada which have been placed by the Imperial Munitions Board on behalf of the Ministry of Munitions and other British Government departments may be divided into three classes:

- (a) Shells and explosives. The further production of these would be economically wasteful.
- (b) Metals and raw materials of various descriptions. In this class is munitions supplies to Germany. London has forced policies to allow end-month in the $23,051,224. In comparing contracts for raw steel to be being sent to us and gradually. (c) Commercial lumber and ships. The shortage of it is not likely that change will be made in existing contracts.

As regards wooden ships, important contracts have been placed in Canada for this class of vessel by the British Government and also on private contracts. The Dominion has been given the right to manufacture and operate of the yards.

"DISCONTINUING OPERATIONS"

With regard to Class "A" 1, i. e., the class of contracts which are likely to be discontinued as soon as possible it is estimated that not more than fifty thousand work people at present employed in Canada on British Government contracts of this description. It is proposed by the board as the method of dealing with these that manufacturers should be asked to make a statement the initial operations on material.

This would involve the immediate termination of their work and the extent of perhaps ten to fifteen per cent. of the work people who will no longer be required for the manufacture of munitions to be absorbed in other employment.

OBITUARY

FRANCIS JAMES FRY

November fifth, nineteen eighteen, near the passing of Francis James Fry, for some years Chairman of the House of J. S. Fry & Sons, Limited, of Bristol, England.

For nearly seventy years Mr. Fry held a leading position in the development of the House of Fry, and in his commercial career, maintaining tact, and prudent courtesy the world and the success of the House was very largely attributable.

It may be stated with confidence that Mr. Fry was a man who, while he had hosts of friends, never made an enemy in business, politics or religion—yet he consistently maintained independence of thought. His sterling honesty and his courteous tolerance of opposing views had always earned him respect.

At the age of eight, after years, and after a long life of active usefulness, the Empire loses one of its Merchant Princes, the world and the world to come by the loss of one of her finest Citizens.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to the bereaved family, and our hope is that the sadness will be brightened by the memory of many kindly acts during the long life so nobly spent.

Ontario Must Not Fail!

TO THE PEOPLE OF ONTARIO:

We are now in the critical days of our great effort to reach the $100,000,000 Victory Loan objective undertaken by the Province. While the past few days have been most gratifying and indicate a large expectation, both of the urgency of the situation requiring this loan and of its financial attractiveness from the investment standpoint, we have still a great many millions to raise if the Province is to carry its honor flag on Saturday night. Having shouldered the burden of much of the national quota, the people of Ontario today carry a tremendous responsibility.

WE MUST NOT FAIL. Our hope at the front have faltered their day. They will expect us to finish ours. The money being raised in the Victory Loan is needed to maintain them in their occupation of the battlefield, and to finance their diverse home-coming. We would be unworthy of their sacrifice were we to fail in any respect in this solemn obligation.

WE MUST NOT FAIL. The immediate future prosperity of Ontario and the nation absolutely depend upon our having achieved the full quota when the campaign closes Saturday night. Should we fail to lead the money raised for Ontario would be faced with a trying economic situation in which unemployment and distress might become general. Our extraordinary prosperity of the past four years was due almost wholly to the stimulation of industry through previous war loans. If our great war of workers is to be maintained in steady employment, and work found for our soldiers as they return, we must launch at once upon a large reconstruction program in the financing of which the proceeds of the Victory Loan will play a vital part.

WE WILL NOT FAIL. Ontario has carried through successfully every war effort undertaken by her since August, 1914. If every man, woman and child in the Province, realizing the seriousness of the situation, resolves to do his or her utmost and puts every spare dollar into Victory Bonds before the end of the week, Ontario will not fail in this, her final effort.

It may not be possible for our citizens to call upon every citizen. The Ontario Executive of the Victory Loan Committee therefore appeals to every man in the Province who has not yet subscribed to the limit of his or her ability to go to the local campaign headquarters and volunteer the sale of their undivided dollar.

Ontario has occupied a premier position in Canada's contribution to the cause of civilization. How maintain her proud place. Lead to your limit—and we shall not fail.

L. H. Hall

Chairman Ontario Executive, Victory Loan, 1918.

Seed Potatoes Will be Scarce

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—The educational campaign of the Department of Agriculture launched a year ago for the purpose of popularizing standard potatoes in Ontario—Irish Cobbler and Green Mountain—is to be continued this winter, but from present indi-calious it will be rather seriously handicapped by the scarcity of seed potatoes. Justin Miller, Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture, has just returned from a tour of the potato-growing districts of New Brunswick where he endeavored to secure a substantial supply of first-class seed. M-was only able to secure two carloads, one of Irish Cobbler and one of Green Mountains with about 400 bags in each. Ultimately, of course, the farmers of Ontario will be able to secure their standard seed from Northern Ontario but as far the rapid growth of the seed potato industry is absorbing all the local supply. Only one section had more than enough for its own needs—Rainy River, and its surplus is being distributed in Thunder Bay. Algoma grew sufficient for seed par-

The scarcity of standard certified seed is especially regretted because Ontario farmers who secured inspected seed last winter and spring were rewarded with an increase of 33 to 48 per cent. in their crops, compared with yields from home-grown seed.

They are naturally anxious to get a further supply.

The department is continuing its efforts to locate more seed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16— Relief for the suffering millions in Bolshevik-controlled Central Russia furnishes a

CHATTAM, Nov. 16—County Jail

To Place Big Railway Orders

VICTORIA, Nov. 16.—The conference between the construction committee of the children and representatives of the Canadian railways, the coal-belt companies and the steel companies to determine the amount of order to be placed on hand and the anticipated requirements of the railroads showed very clearly that as far as showing all industries are conditions arising for a considerable period but not most cases a demand for more men than are now employed. All of the top shops but one will be busy in 1919 which will be the last of December. The coal-belt companies can now present orders to April 30 and others open to April 30. The C.P.R. shops in particular are very busy and have work to keep them going for nine months to next. The only difficulty is the shortage of materials. The Grand Trunk Railway Company, the Canadian Northern Railway and the International Railway are now much below their requirements in men, and the Government will be obliged to give very heavy orders which will insure a good year in 1919 for employees and their employers and this in addition to a definite prospect of the companies getting heavy orders for exports.

HEAVY EXPENDITURES
All the railways next spring must make heavy expenditures for improvements which have been neglected during the past four years. To this may be added the building of new lines of the Canadian Northern Railway if it becomes conditions as such. The railways now are short of men and next spring for ordinary improvements and maintenance they will require a very large number of workers. For new work they will still further swell the numbers and the timber and men for manufacturing lumber and men for the furthering of more bit of work to the shipping done in the future.

Consideration was given to the matter of rail requirements for the coming year. Already the Government has ordered 200,000 tons of rails, 12,000 tons from the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. and 75,000 tons from the Algoma Steel Co. Further orders will be forthcoming which will insure operation of the steel companies for 2 years or more.

Among the railway representatives present were D. H. Hagan, President of the C. N. R., Howard G. Kelly, President of the C. P. R., J. M. McPherson of the C. N. R. and Major Graham Bell, Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals and Inspector of the War Trade Board, Irving F. McPherson, Chairman of the committee and Mr. Thomas White, Acting Principal in the morning. Other railway men were present in the afternoon.

All present expressed themselves as optimistic with regard to the transportation period. They all agreed that Canadians had no reason to regard the future with apprehension. The contracting companies are now employing the following numbers of men: Canadian Car Co., 2,000; National Car Co., 1,000; Eastern Car Co., 400; C. P. R. Angus shops, 2,500; C. P. R. locomotive shops, 2,500; and Grand Trunk Railway shops, 2,500.

INCREASED PRODUCTION

With a view also to the stoppage of labor, it is anticipated that the production is under way for a considerable increase food production. The restriction of localities is not so wide as just justified any claims of food conservation. The relations of German

VOL. 12

THE TEMPTING OF PAUL CHESTER.

BY ALICE AND CLAUDE ASKEW
AUTHORS OF "THE RHULAMITE"

CHAPTER XLIV

The Pagan Woman

"Paul's wife!" Chester spoke in low, suppressed tones; then he gazed steadily at Henrietta. "What do you mean?" he muttered. "Are you going to life to your husband as for infamous woman did—accuse me false to the Duke?"

"Henrietta," she smiled her head. Her eyes were venomous and evil, and between her red lips he caught the shrewd glint of her teeth. "You, I intend to follow the Egyptian's wise example," she continued, "and my husband will believe me. Oh, I don't think your day of triumph will last very long; indeed I don't. You will soon be cast down from your high estate, history's scummed, smothered by your better, pushed back to your right place."

She smiled with so much comical twisted bitterness that Chester gazed at her amazed, horrified; for how far it possible, he asked himself, that a woman could care for a man passionately one moment and hate him deadly the next?

"Henrietta, is that what you love means?" He spoke with a quiet dignity; for he was not afraid of her for all her threats. He was only determined to find that there was so much evil lurking in her heart, such duplicity, such treachery.

"What my love means?" He answered quickly, "for what I love means you are—is that—Oh, don't you understand—has faced him with uttering lips and dilated nostrils—that love which can be kindled by a look, a touch, can be slain as easily by a word—a glance! And do you suppose for one moment that any one of my temptations could ever forget the blow you have struck at my pride? Oh, you shall suffer, my dear Henrietta, as you have made me suffer. I'll break you, as you have broken me."

She moved towards the door, a swirling figure, a woman whose face was as dead, whose hair given, whose eyes were hateful and terrible; and Henrietta no longer looked beautiful and desirable; she was the living incarnation of passionate love.

He touched his hands, and stood up right, and motionless, fighting as hard a battle against himself as if himself as a man had ever fought, as he drew a deep, hard breath when the shade of the heavy street door reopened and through the house.

"Oh, my God!" The words broke huskily from his throat, and the man sick and cold, notwithstanding the heat of the day.

His heartily melted as yet all that Henrietta had said to him, or the deadly nature of her threats. He was now occupied in thinking of the friends he had lost that of what a dangerous enemy he had gained. His world seemed to be falling to pieces around him, his mouth was full of the taste of dust and ashes—he was drinking bitter words to the dogs.

He moved his hand wearily over his forehead, then a sudden thought started for he suddenly remembered! Lady Flora and he wondered if she was really engaged in writing out his name's papers. Could it be possible, he asked himself with inward repulsion and soul, that his sister-in-law had caught any of the conversation which had passed between himself and the Frenchman? Suppose the door had come ajar, for instance, and even if it had not, he felt miserably afraid that any one waiting in the hallway might easily overhear it if they came to the door which was being said in the drawing-room.

He waited at the doorway, a prey to keen and reckless anxiety, not for himself so much as for Henrietta, for not understanding all she had just said, and her threats he still thought tender to her of his heart.

On pausing the door he found to his relief that it was shut tight, but he started violently as he opened it and stood on the threshold of the master room. For here waited in a small air chair—waiting Flora, who was scribbling a note at the writing-table.

The eyes of the two men met, and Chester felt absolutely convinced that she had heard something of what had passed between himself and the Frenchman, for he remembered how often the woman had raised her voice to wards the end of their stormy later view.

Flora, too, how much had she overheard? For now, as she turned and glanced at her brother-in-law over her shoulder, Chester noticed what a strange smile played on her lips, and what a malignant look in her eyes. "How do you do?" he asked, as he stepped to her.

He offered his hand to his host with easy composure. "I come round this afternoon, as he was on, 'trusting to be allowed to have tea with Lady Susan.' The servant said she had gone away suddenly, and when I asked for further particulars I was told up here, and told that Lady Flora could give me more information, and now I am persuading her to write a few lines to your effect, to ask if I may motor down to-morrow."

Amplest Court for lunch and tea! Lady Flora was writing to her sister when I came in, so is kindly adding a postscript to her note.

It was not like Rupert Temple to speak in such a bland, heavy fashion, and there was something artificial and unreal in his long speech—artificial, too, the way in which Flora laughed and went on scolding her the thick, white paper. Chester felt that they were both acting a part—that it was very bad for the matter of that—and he realized that they must have been at least listening to the Frenchman's last passionate cry.

He remembered how late, shortly after the Duchess had arrived he had been badly conscious of the mad and of volving taking in the hotel, but he had been too overcome by Henrietta's unexpected advent to remember that Flora was there, or to think that there was any of his conversation with Henrietta being overheard. Besides, she had given such an excellent time to the interview at once that it was useless wonder he had forgotten everything else in the world except the Frenchman's breath.

"Indeed!" He tried to speak in his usual good way. Could you possibly pour your visit—For I must tell you my own good night the country because London has knocked her up and she wants complete rest and quiet, and no visitors to disturb her."

"I understand from Lady Flora," he said, his fair man answered, stroking his heavy mustache with a languid, white hand. "But all the same," he added, with a slow smile, "I think Lady Susan will see me."

His eyes glittered, and he passed with some defiance at Chester, as though drawn to the door to bid him to visit.

"Yes, I am quite sure that she would like to see you, Mr. Temple," Flora spoke in soft, sister tones. She began to fold up her letter and it was only as she was about to do so that she had the chance of seeing her brother-in-law.

"You shall post this letter, post-office, Mr. Temple, if you like," she also added, with another smile. "I am very glad to have had the chance of seeing you, and quite agree with you, my brother, as to your visit."

She gave Temple the same glance as Chester received, and all places which waited at some moment of waiting with him, then held out her hand to her brother-in-law. "I must get going," she said, with a languid, white hand, "but all the same," he added, with a slow smile, "I think Lady Susan will see me."

His eyes met and he passed with some defiance at Chester, as though drawn to the door to bid him to visit.

"Yes, I am quite sure that she would like to see you, Mr. Temple," Flora spoke in soft, sister tones. She began to fold up her letter and it was only as she was about to do so that she had the chance of seeing her brother-in-law.

To-Night On the Stroke of Twelve

This is the last day you can buy Victory Bonds—1918.

To-night on the stroke of twelve your last chance will be gone:

Your last chance to help Canada wind up the war as she fought it:

To help Canada bring her soldier sons home to wives, mothers and children:

To help Canada in her big peace problems of demobilization and re-establishment of our soldiers in civil life:

---Problems of caring for sick, maimed and blinded soldiers,

---Problems of continuing to find and finance markets for our farm crops,

---Problems of developing markets and supplying material for rebuilding devastated Belgium and France,

---Problems of maintaining Canada's Prosperity.

For all these problems Canada must have hundreds of millions of dollars which must be borrowed from her people.

This is probably your very last chance to buy at par Canadian Government Bonds bearing $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. interest and free from Federal Taxation. Money is almost sure to become cheaper in a short time and your bonds will increase in value correspondingly.

And don't forget--

Your money in Victory Bonds is not tied up—it is almost as easy to sell a Victory Bond as it is to change a hundred dollar bill. You can get your money out at any time, and very likely with a profit

Don't be sorry—don't neglect your last chance.

Don't wait for a canvasser.

Go and buy your Victory Bonds to-day.

Buy on another.

Buy some more.

Strain your credit—buy on the instalment plan.

"Bell" Girls Service Is Appreciated

The courtesy and special service of Bell Telephone Co., operators during the recent period of unusual strain of big crowd events of world-wide interest has been recognized in the following circular issued by the General Manager of the Bell Telephone Co.: "The splendid work of the operators of our telephone system during the armistice period is a matter of common knowledge. It is a matter of common knowledge, that, in the face of the most difficult conditions, they have handled our calls beyond their capacity to handle under normal conditions. The telephone girls have shown themselves to be of the highest caliber in order to meet the situation. It was not only the fact that they were doing so, but that they were doing so in a most efficient manner, by in disseminating to the public the fact that they were of an essential nature, closely connected to the civilian's need in maintaining the home at the front. The telephone operators deserve the gratitude of the community."

On behalf of the Executive of our company I wish to add my endorsement to the sentiments expressed in the above paragraph from a leading daily paper.

The work of the operating staff throughout the whole company is maintaining at their posts during what was probably the most trying time the telephone service has ever passed through in beyond all praise. We realize that the good news from the front must have produced for many operators an emotional strain that was almost insupportable. Under such circumstances to have worked as heroically in helping to fulfill our obligation to the public whose demands were heavier than ever before, is a matter for great gratification and well deserving our sincerest thanks.

"The King's business cannot be carried on, it is well known, without the aid of us in our historic experience of the past. In the service you have recognized that no matter what the conditions, telephone service and maintenance and we wish to go on record that the Executive of the company appreciates your splendid and self-sacrificing work."

Victory Loan Canvasser Shot

CALHUN, Nov. 18.—An open roadster of Tippecanoe county was returning from the effects of one shot which was inflicted by Arnold to the death last night by a German's army at Drummer, invading the circumstances of the killing of a Canadian canvasser at Verdun Valley, Ontario.

The jury included A. H. Gibson, manager of the Standard Bank at Verdun, J. S. Gibson, W. R. Gibson, W. McKee, J. Toward and J. Campbell. Arnold, who fired the shot, is a naturalized Canadian, German birth and reported to have been in the line of duty in the German army. A preliminary hearing of Arnold is being held today before Justice Hild.

According to testimony before the coroner's jury, Blaise, who was a carrier in Drummer, delivered a party of Victory Loan canvassers, who were on Arnold's home at night after dark and receiving no response. The home was in darkness, Blaise, who had British flag draped around his neck, an inner door leading to Arnold's bedroom. He was met with a shot from a .2030 rifle and fell. The others of the party fled, helping him and were told by a woman that they had been the lady after they were in five minutes. Waiting that time, they returned and found Blaise dead. Arnold gave. Arnold later reported that he was in the house at the time he was shot. He was shot in the chest by a bullet that he had shot at a man who was entering his house in the bedroom. THE BREATHEABLE REMEDY

ALWAYS keep a box of Peps in your hand, and immediately when you feel a tickling in your throat and want to cough, put a Peps tablet in your mouth. The medicinal forces given off by the dissolving Peps mingle with the fresh air you breathe, and like the fine Forest air of Switzerland, reach every nook and corner of the throat and lungs, where the danger lies. Peps soothes the breathing tubes with a germ-destroying vapor, which is a sure safeguard against infectious coughs and colds. When a Peps tablet is in the mouth every breath taken strengthens your defence against throat and chest troubles.

British Premier Outlines Policy

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Premier Lloyd George has sent a letter to Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon, outlining his policy regarding the general election and the principal issues of the day. The Premier says he is convinced there should be a general election, his principal reason being that it is essential there should be a fresh Parliament possessed of authority to deal with the difficult transitional period which will follow the cessation of hostilities.

Mr. Lloyd George considers it should be a coalition election, the coalition not being limited to future candidates who will undertake to support the present Government not only to prevent the war to a final end and to negotiate peace but to deal with problems of reconstruction.

The Premier says he desires to do this "carried through on personal grounds, for during the last two years he has received the wholehearted support of the Unionist party and the Government has had unity both in aims and in action, which has been remarkable in a coalition Government."

The Prime Minister says he is convinced such an arrangement would be best for the country, adding: "The problems which we shall be faced immediately on the cessation of hostilities will be hardly less drastic than those of the war itself. They cannot, in my opinion, be dealt with without disunity and party lines."

It is vital that the national will should be maintained intact in the least the main foundations of national and international reconstruction have been seriously laid.

By the setting of goals below the actual cost of production.

"We must face all three questions with new eyes, without regard to previous speeches."

Home Rule Question. Dealing with the Home Rule question, Premier Lloyd George stated: "It can support no settlement which would impose a forcible union with Ulster. Eighteen months ago the Government made alternative proposals for a settlement of the Irish problem. It offered either to bring Ulster into immediate effect, while excluding the rest of northern counties of Ulster from its operation, or to set up a committee of representative Irishmen to endeavor to find a settlement. It was unfortunately after nearly a year of almost deliberative the conference found themselves unable to arrive at anything like an agreement."

"In these circumstances I claim the right to bring a settlement into effect based on the first of these alternatives. I recognize, however, that in the present condition of Ireland such a claim could not be supported and that it must be postponed until a committee of Irish men can be formed."

Brain Power

At this trying time, when so many are suffering from nervous troubles of one kind or another, Dr. Chas. N. Col is proving a blessing of untold value.

This food cure is not like a stimulant, because it cures in Nature's way by restoring the depleted nerve cells, increasing the nervous energy and building up the system generally.

When you feel tired out in mind and body, have brain fog and failing memory, and feel that you are losing your energy and vigor, it is time to turn to Dr. Chas.
N. Col's Food as a means of renewing mind and bodily vigor.

Your experience with Dr. Chas. N. Col's
Food is that of the great majority of people treated—rapidly—both mental and physical energy is restored, the nervous system is strengthened, the blood is purified, the system is brought back to its normal state, and you are able to do your work with ease and vigor.

EGG-O

The tea of every virtue that is worth consideration. "Try It To-day"

What is a double acting baking powder?

A double-acting baking powder is one that starts its action in the mixing bowl and finishes it in the oven. Ordinary baking powders develop their full strength in the mixing bowl and you have to hurry your cakes into the oven. Then, you are always afraid that the oven is not just hot enough, or that your mix will set or something else happens to cause the cakes to fall.

You don't have to hurry or worry when Egg-O Baking Powder is used. Egg-O rises only once in the bowl. You may let the dough stand 15 or 20 minutes or longer—doing so will give better results. When put into the oven, Egg-O continues its action—this second action being so steady and strong that it is not likely to fall even if it does get an unexpected jar.

EGG-O Baking Powder

is double acting and just what is needed to make the heavy war flour light.

Constance made no answer for a moment, then he explained that he would be very busy that week and with many other things, for what was the point of letting Roger Temple into the house if he was to be so busy? He was not, of course, or telling the latter that he was mistaken about Lady Susan, for it was not her husband who loved her, but she. He was not, of course, or telling the latter that he was mistaken about Lady Susan, for it was not her husband who loved her, but she. He was not, of course, or telling the latter that he was mistaken about Lady Susan, for it was not her husband who loved her, but she.

But after that other had departed, and when he was once more alone in the study, he thought of what Temple had said, and it suddenly struck him how good it would have been if the words had been true. He was not, of course, or telling the latter that he was mistaken about Lady Susan, for it was not her husband who loved her, but she. He was not, of course, or telling the latter that he was mistaken about Lady Susan, for it was not her husband who loved her, but she.

He heard his arm upon the wall, and he knew the kinder thing he could do now was to keep away from her and intrude his presence as little as possible. He reached his arm upon the wall, and he knew the kinder thing he could do now was to keep away from her and intrude his presence as little as possible.

"I've heard from Flora this morning," said Agnes, addressed herself to Milly.

"A letter from Flora?"

"I felt so tired," murmured Agnes. "Then she turned to her younger sister and said, 'I cannot make any sense of it. I have been so busy that I have not had time to write. I have been so busy that I have not had time to write. I have been so busy that I have not had time to write.'"

"What have you done?" asked Milly. "She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her."

"What have you done?" asked Milly. "She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her."

"What have you done?" asked Milly. "She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her."

"What have you done?" asked Milly. "She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her."

"What have you done?" asked Milly. "She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her."

"Then again I made Agnes believe that Paul was only marrying her because of the title and our family connections," she murmured. "I have been so busy that I have not had time to write. I have been so busy that I have not had time to write. I have been so busy that I have not had time to write."

"CHAPTER LI

"When 'the day comes' Agnes murmured the words to herself in her own room, and she was so tired that she fell asleep. She was so tired that she fell asleep. She was so tired that she fell asleep."

Yet how she had suffered—how miserably and terribly—and it had all been owing to the jealousy of her sister—the mortal sickness of Agnes; for she had been so busy that I have not had time to write. I have been so busy that I have not had time to write. I have been so busy that I have not had time to write."

"What have you done?" asked Milly. "She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her."

"What have you done?" asked Milly. "She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her. She has done more to displease her than she has to please her."

Britain Day in the United States

For the first time in history a nation in the United States, Carlton Moorehead, an English artist, who gives the full four years of war service to the cause of Great Britain and Canada, has just put the finishing touches to a typical British poster which will be distributed by the New York Committee having in charge America's tribute to Britain, December 7, 1915.

The British Lion and its cub, representing the colonies, will be striking figures in the poster, of which a first edition has been distributed shortly throughout the country.

The Honorable Chairman of the Committee, whose headquarters are at the Hotel Belmont, New York City, is Mr. Charles E. King, of Harvard, and the Chairman is James Allen H. Parker. Honorary committees are being organized throughout the country, and the outlook is that a very strong showing will be made as to the extent to which America holds the post which Great Britain has won in the war.

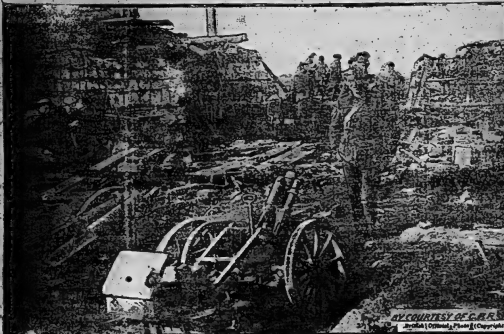

Her eight millions of men given to the allied cause means that if the United States ever were to equal Britain's contribution to men in the present time, the American Republic would have nearly sixteen million soldiers in khaki.

Last July the French nation was honored on Britain Day, and now it is the turn of Great Britain, and has as good reason to be proud of her American, but which now is coming into its own, from the respect and admiration which have resulted from the heroic spirit which they have shown upon the Germans more than four years ago, and have paid it slowly over time.

A majority of every city having a population of 5,000 and upward has been invited to join this nation-wide celebration. The British nation and people are proud to be honored in this way, and in many places, and have contributed to the cause of the British Empire. The terms will be given made in a considerable part of Britain and

Britannia for the first time will figure in a poster to be widely circulated in America. Carlton Moorepark, an English artist, who has given the full four years of war service in the cause of Great Britain and Canada, has just put the finishing touches to a typical British poster which will be distributed by the New York Chamber of Commerce later in charge America's efforts in Britain's fight.

"The British Lion and his oak, representing the colonies, will be striking figures in the poster, of which a first edition of 25,000 is to be distributed shortly throughout the country. The Honorable Chairman of the Committee, whose headquarters are at the Hotel Belmont, New York City, is Dr. Charles E. Elliot, of Newark, and the Chairman is James H. Parker, Newark committee.

Alone H. Parker, Newark committee, has been organized throughout the country. It is believed that a very strong showing will be made as the nation in which America holds the part which Great Britain has borne in the war for the protection of this country against the murderous Hun.

Over eight millions of men given to the allied cause means that if the United States ever were to equal Britain's contribution in men up to the present time, the American Republic would have nearly sixteen million men in the field.

Let July the French nation was honored on Bastille Day, and now it is the turn of Great Britain, who has so just been misunderstood and misinterpreted by the average American, but which now is coming into its own, from the respect and admiration which have resulted from the battle, into which they have entered as the Germans more than four years ago, and have held it.

The motto of every city having a population of 100,000 or more has been invited to join this nation-wide celebration of America's tribute to the British nation and people. Public meetings are being organized in many places, and have centers and other social organizations. Festivities will be held made up in celebration of British aid.
